Everything With Poison.

Among the Cree and Salteux Indians the administration of deadly poison has been reduced to an exact science. These tribes never go to the warpath. They have not learned the uses of the scalping-knife and toma-hawk. Such a thing as shooting from ambush never occurs. When a Cree or Salteux Indian gets ready to dispose of an enemy or a rival he consults the conjurer of the tribe and that individual deals out poisons that are not known in any other place on earth. These poisons baffled the most skilled doctors and chemists. The British army surgeons who have examined victims of the Cree and Salteux poisoners say that the deadly mixtures used by them are absolutely unknown to science. Misadventures and tragedies who came to Winnipeg with stories of the fatal liquids were not believed. The only way they convinced the doctors was by taking several victims before a board of examining surgeons. These poisons are brewed in the most mysterious manner by the old conjurers of the tribe.
That is their chief occupation. They go into the forests alone and come back with their wigwams with strange herbs and bark, which are converted into liquids that work terrible execution among the bucks signaled out for death. No remedy has ever been found to operate against these drugs.
Death invariably follows, sometimes swiftly and with awful agony, but more frequently after the lapse of months of dreadful suffering.
"Fourteen braves have been sent to the good trapping grounds by this hand," said one old conjurer, shaking his hand in a threatening gesture to Rev. Egerton R. Young, a missionary who lived twenty years with the tribes.

Rev. Mr. Young is telling friends in Chicago. He tells a thrilling story of his life among these savages. The missionary is a man of powerful physique and athletic proportions.
"I lived with two of the tribes so long that they all called me their little brother," he said. "They are a powerful race. The men are large and very strong. As you may know, the Cree and Salteux Indians are the last tribes we find on this continent before reaching the Esquimaux," says the Chicago Herald. "My work as a missionary was in the country about 700 to 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg.
The line that separates the Indian from the Esquimaux is not marked, and, while their hunting grounds are not far apart in some places, the customs of the people are very different.
The Cree and Salteux Indians are not blood-thirsty, but once their anger or envy is aroused, death more terrible than that inflicted by the scalping-knife or tomahawk awaits the victim.
Their knowledge of poisons is extraordinary. I saw many victims of the deadly drugs administered by the old conjurers, and during my twenty years' residence with the tribes had frequent occasions to administer to the victims, for I was doctor, magistrate, preacher and teacher for them.
Many is the time I have been called from my bed to go and stitch up some poor fellow who had been clawed almost to death by a bear. Some of these poisons operate in the most mysterious manner. One of the drugs in common use when I first went among the Indians caused great sores to appear on the face and body of the victim. No matter what season of the year this poison was given its effects were not visible until spring.
Then the sores would appear. When these scales dropped off great tufts of hair sprang from the sores. Then the death followed. I told some army surgeons at Winnipeg of these remarkable drugs and their effects, but my story was not believed. 'Such things are not known to medical science,' the doctors replied. When I went back to Winnipeg again I took one of the afflicted Indians with me.
The surgeons spent nearly a week examining him. This is certainly the first case of the kind that has ever been reported to the medical profession, was their verdict when they finished the examination.

"The only means of travel in that country is by means of sleds drawn by dogs. The Indians are remarkable runners and pride themselves on their powers of endurance in that line. If an Indian is so unfortunate as to excite the envy of a rival runner is very apt to get a dose of poison. The drugs given in such cases are equally as mysterious in their effect as those administered where death is to be produced. Some of these drugs paralyze the legs of the runners, but have no other effect. Other drugs simply stiffen the limbs.
The power exercised by the con-jurers over their tribe is very great, and they know that the missionaries come to break it. When an Indian feels an inspiration or inclination, whatever it may be, to become a conjurer he goes through a singular course of training. He will sit alone for hours at night on the summit of the cliffs, talking to the clouds and listening to the sounds of the winds.
During the daytime he is secreted in a cave. An air of mystery shrouds his life and movements. He starts himself almost to death. Months after absenting himself from the tribe he comes back. Then he is a conjurer.
"The Indians are now honest and receive our teaching with evident comfort to themselves. I found many noble and generous fellows among them, many pleasant traveling companions. Some of them are very witty in their own tongues. They tell very funny and peculiar jokes at the end of a long journey, after the fires have been lighted for the night.
For more than ten years I lived among them without fastening either the doors or windows of my house.
I never suffered the loss of any of my property, although some of my belongings tempted these untutored people sorely. When I think of their fidelity and faithfulness to me, and the splendid services rendered to me and my good wife during our long life among them, I feel fully compensated for the hardship through which I passed and the suffering that at many times attended my work."—[San Francisco Examiner.

Our Crops and Russia's Famine.
The corn and wheat crops of the West have been as abundant as could be desired. Our four million farmers more or less richly deserve their good fortune. They have had singularly bad luck for some time past. What with drenching rains and parching droughts, diversified with cyclones and numerous forms of cattle disease, they have had reason for complaint.
But it's a long line that has no turning, and they have at last had a splendid year. Their fields have smiled with plenty and nature has rewarded them for the long period of tribulation.
They will now be able to pay off the mortgages which have encumbered them, and to buy up new stock and to patch up the broken fences and leaky barns and perhaps lay aside a penny for rainy weather. Prosperity has beamed on them, and they have a right to indulge in high glee.

Commissioner Husk tells us that his department has been measurably successful in introducing Indian corn and its products among Europeans.
Heretofore the poorer classes on the other side have depended mainly on wheat for their tables. What made into various kinds of food has been the staple of the peasantry. It is the Russian wheat crop which failed that caused the famine from which both the Muscovite and German have suffered. If they can be brought to relish corn meal, a part at least of the danger from hunger will be averted in the future. A double crop, wheat and corn, is not likely to fail at the same time. At any rate there will always be an abundant supply of one or the other on our side of the water.

In contrast with this abundance is the picture of unalloyed and desperate danger in the East—a calamity of such proportions that the czar abandons a proposed festival in St.
Petersburg. Even the Court becomes grave and the rich are also contributing to furnish starvation with a crust of bread. If only half of what is told is true, the spectacle is pitiable, and if the whole of it is true, the condition of these hungry folk is simply heart-rending. Starving men, we are told, have formed themselves into bands, and are raiding any section which promises plunder. Where there is no bread, the people are always in a state of anarchy. Law and order are despised, and brain, heart and conscience give way before the demands of the stomach. Little holdings, so report says, are taken for debt, and numerous families are thrown on the highway. There is one story just received, of a wretched woman who applied for help to a well-to-do neighbor, and, when refused, she deliberately killed her three children and then completed the tragedy by hanging herself.
These are the two pictures which appeal to our imagination—it is hell there and heaven here. Western corn and wheat, however, are on their way to our seaboard in enormous quantities. Our surplus is quite enough to supply the European markets.—[N. Y. World.

Stock to Feed in Winter.

There is no longer the profit to Eastern farmers of winter feeding of fattening cattle that once was reasonably certain. Coarse grain is dearer in the East, while in the West it is often scarcely worth the cost of hauling to market. The rates of transportation for fattened stock or for dressed beef leave nothing to be made by the Eastern feeder. The possible exception to the general unprofitableness of stock-feeding in winter is in sheep, either for dropping lambs to be sold for the early market, or good four-year-old wethers to be fed a few weeks and sold for the gain in flesh and wool. There is money in both these ways of dealing with sheep, providing the manager has had experience in feeding. No kind of farm stock requires more delicate care than the sheep. There must be sufficiency, but never excess. A little too much or too rich feeding will get the sheep off its feed for several days after. Inexperienced feeders should always have roots of some kind. With these more grain can be fed without danger of injury, as the roots keep the bowels loose and prevent the constipation that in sheep, as in everything else, is the frequent cause of indigestion.
—[Farmer's Home Journal.

One of the greatest drawbacks that a farmer can possibly have is the desire to procure more land than he can easily pay for or properly cultivate.
Many a farmer has thus been kept "land poor" all his life.

Call and see Cassidy's line of Xmas furniture.

Read Mr. Morris' "ad" of sale of store-house etc., at Grassy Lick. This is a splendid opportunity for one who wants to find a stand for a country store.

Beach & Bowers' minstrels at the Opera House to-night.

Voris and Clayton are selling at prime cost to close business. This is no catch-penny announcement. They mean business.

Yesterday morning a fire started in the office of the Sharpburg Hotel. The office, which was a detached room, was destroyed, but the fire was subdued without further damage. Loss, some $200; fully covered by insurance.

For useful and ornamental furniture call on Cassidy.

The Masquerade social and supper given Friday night by the ladies of the city, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., was a decided success from a financial and social standpoint. About $70 was realized, and all who attended report a most enjoyable evening.

See the grand street parade of Beach & Bowers to-day.

The jail has been improved by the introduction of twenty iron bedsteads. Through the courtesy of Mr. Tipton, the Jailor, and Esquire Henry Jones, Chairman of the Jail Committee, we were shown the improvements now going on for the comfort of the prisoners and the improvement of the sanitary conditions of the jail.

R. T. Smith, always the right man in the right place, is now with W. A. Sutton, undertaker.

We call attention to the advertisement of the dissolution of Voris & Clayton. These gentlemen are offering goods at prime cost to close out their business. You can save money by going to see them, as they intend to close out their stock, and the prices at which they are offering goods is certain to make them go.

Beach & Bowers' minstrels are better than ever this season, so all Kentucky papers say.

Elder H. D. Clark, pastor of the Christian Church of this city, was called to Eureka, Ill., on Friday, by a telegram bearing the sad intelligence of the death of his mother. The house of Brother Clark's large congregation, by whom he is greatly beloved, and indeed of the entire community, go out to him in sympathy in his sorrow.

Useful Christmas presents at Cassidy's.

An election for officers of the Y. M. C. A. for the year 1892 was held on last Tuesday night, and resulted as follows: President, R. T. Childs; vice-President, R. B. Young; Treasurer, J. O. Miller; Recording Secretary, G. W. Sherrill. Money sufficient has been raised to put the organization on a permanent basis, and rooms will be at once secured and fitted up for the convenience and accommodation of the membership.

Great reduction in millinery goods at T. P. Martin & Co's.

The Jefferson-Florence Combination will present the "Heir-at-Law" at the Lexington Opera House tonight, and a large number of our people will go down on the afternoon train to attend the performance. The Railroad Company will run a special train, for the accommodation of those who shall attend, from Lexington to this place after the performance is over, so that any who desire can return to-night. Fare for the round trip $1. Reserved seats tickets to the performance, on lower floor, $2.00; in balcony, $1.50.

Fine perfumes at W. S. Lloyd's. Swiss Lilac Maybells. Genuine Crab Apple Blossom, Atkinson's White Rose.

Great line of novelties at T. P. Martin & Co's.

Tarpsulins, any size, at 15-21 W. W. Reed's.

We call attention to the sale of the best stand for a country store in this part of the State. Read Mr. J. W. Morris' advertisement of sale of store-house and dwelling at Grassy Lick. Sale Saturday, Dec. 10th.

Don't forget Kennedy Bros. when looking for a Xmas gift.

On Thursday night the following officers were elected to serve for the coming six months in Fidelity Lodge No. 50, K. of P.: W. H. Bryan, C. C.; W. H. Lee, V. C.; E. E. Bonar, Prelate; W. A. DeHaven, K. of R. and S. and M. of P.; B. F. Robinson, M. of E.; E. H. Perry, M. of A.

The case of Sam Everett, charged with the killing of Jude Langston, was on trial in the Circuit Court the past week. It was called Tuesday, and on Friday the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. Messrs. Z. T. Young, C. R. Brooks, J. H. Hazelrigg and H. M. Woodford represented the defendant, and Commonwealth Attorney M. M. Redwine, W. R. Haynes, James P. Cassidy and County Attorney W. A. DeHaven represented the Commonwealth. The case was given to the jury at 11 Friday and about 2 p. m. they brought in their verdict.

Books, booklets, vases, lamps, &c., for Xmas presents, at low prices, at Kennedy Bros.

The Tobacco Growers' house has joined the Exchange, and the war between that house and those known as the Exchange houses is over. Seven of the directors of the Growers' house at once tendered their resignations, alleging that they could no longer act with the house under its change of policy. The majority of the stockholders of the Growers' house thought the action necessary because the house had been losing money lately, since they had been able to secure very few buyers to attend their sales. There is some talk of starting a new house by those opposed to the change of policy in the Growers' house.

The most elegant line of Holland's gold pens, pearl and ivory holders. They are the best, cheap, at T. G. Julian's.

Mr. Daniel Maupin, an old and respected citizen of this city, died suddenly Sunday morning, aged 64 years. Mr. Maupin was born and raised in this country, and though blind from early childhood, he has been an active business man for many years. Mr. Maupin leaves a wife but no children. Several years since he connected himself with the Christian Church, and has lived a consistent and exemplary life since he gave himself to the service of his Master. His funeral was preached yesterday at 11 a. m. by Elder B. W. Trimble, and his remains were laid to rest in Machpelah Cemetery.

Fine perfumes of all kinds, in cut glass, at T. G. Julian's.

We saw at W. S. Lloyd's the most elegant display of tasteful articles suitable for Christmas gifts that have ever been brought to this city. Books, in beautiful binding, elegant and tasteful vases, splendid designs in cut glass, in short, anything you want that is beautiful and artistic.

Kennedy Bros. have the Xmas presents for the least money.

Dr. J. A. Vansant, a well known physician of our city, was married to Miss Mary Harris, of Fulton, Mo., Thursday, Dec. 3, 1891. The Doctor and his bride reached the city on Friday evening, and have rooms at Mrs. Chorn's, on Mayville street. Mrs. Vansant is well known to our people, having spent much time on visits to her cousin, Mrs. E. J. Reid. She is a gifted woman, with a wide range of information, and will verily be a helpmeet to the elegant gentleman with whom she has linked her life. We wish them all the happiness possible in this work-a-day world of ours.

Mr. James W. Scholl, a young man of Jeffersonville, this county, was arrested Wednesday upon a warrant charging him with assault on the jury at this term of the Court having found an indictment against him. The offense charged is said to have committed some four years ago, at which time Mr. Scholl was conducting a store in Jeffersonville. The goods belonged to him and were insured in the Hoffman Agency, of this city. The building belonged to Elder J. B. Greenwald. It is just to Mr. Scholl to state that he has always, so far as we have ever heard, been considered upright and honest in all his dealings, and that he claims there is nothing but "spite" in the charge.

Gibbs' extra small pens only at R. M. & T. K. BARNES.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a tea-spoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited; then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of night. She got the croup the second night and I gave the same remedy with the same good results. Perhaps you are run down, can't sleep, can't eat, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning; you are taking the first step into nervous prostration. You need a nerve tonic, and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great nerve tonic and alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the liver and kidneys resume a healthy action. Try a bottle. RELIGIOUS.

Spurgeon, the great London preacher, is very much improved, and his friends are more hopeful of his final recovery.

Rev. W. J. E. Cox, recently pastor of the Georgetown Baptist church, has resigned pastoral charge of the Baptist church at Mayville, to take effect January 1st. He has accepted a call from the Baptist church at Staunton, Va.

Dr. E. W. Beldinger, of Anchorage, State evangelist, preached at the Northern Presbyterian church Sunday morning and night most acceptable sermons. Those who had the pleasure of listening to him speak in the highest terms of the discourses he delivered.

Dr. R. Hiner, pastor of the Methodist church, this city, is at Gilead, in Harrison county, holding a protracted meeting. Rev. Reed, missionary to China, filled Dr. Hiner's pulpit morning and evening Sunday, and delivered in the afternoon a most interesting lecture on the customs and people of China.

Elder W. T. Tibbs filled the pulpit of the Christian church Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Elder H. D. Clark, who was called to Eureka, Ill., to attend the burial of his mother. Elder Tibbs, much to the satisfaction and gratification of the congregation, preached one of his inimitable sermons, and sent his hearers away feeling that it was indeed good to have been there. Bro. Tibbs served the church for many years as pastor, and it is no disparagement to anyone to say that no man who ever lived in our midst, did more good for them than he in the years that he was with this people.

We can call to mind no man who has more friends than Mr. Cunningham, nor one who more thoroughly enjoys the confidence and esteem of all who know him. He represents a first-class house, and is in a position to make good every promise he may make to the farmers in his territory.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Monbars has reduced his 2-year-old record to 2:16.

Sidney seems to be at the head as a producer of early speed.

It is reported that Jack, 2:12, will be trained again by Budd Doble next season.

Alfred G., 2:10, has given way to James Madison, 2:17, as the fastest son of Anteeo.

There are but two Nutwood mares at 1:40 Alto and both have produced 2:30 trotters.

Ralph Wilkes (2) 2:18, by Red Wilkes, will be trained next season by C. W. Williams, of Independence.

John Wilkerson, who is one of the best trotting-horse drivers that never buys a pool, recently purchased a 240-acre farm near Terre Haute.

Fausta (1) has reduced the pacing record to 2:23. Frou Frou holds the yearling trotting record; her mark is now 2:25. These fillies are both by Sidney.

The gray ghost Guy, 2:11, is owned by a minister in Mississippi, and the strangest part of the yarn is that he never saw the horse step a heat in any of his races.

It's immaterial now when the rainy season commences in California. They can't get any more records if they trot all winter. Because why? They've got 'em all now.

Senator Stanford has accepted the offer of C. W. Williams to breed ten mares at $2,500 each to Arion during the season of 1893. He asks that he be allowed to select one of the colts during the season of foaling at $10,000.

San Mateo's Freedom (1) 2:20, Regal Wilkes, 2:17, and Hazel Wilkes, 2:20, have been running out all summer, but will be taken up about January 1st and put in training, preparatory to the eastern trip next summer.

It has been going the rounds of the press in the East that Beautiful Bells is the youngest dam of six 2:30 trotters in the world. She is nineteen years of age. Sonnet Molokah is the dam of seven 2:30 trotters to date and three years younger than Beautiful Bells. Give credit where credit is due.

Electioneer has ninety-eight of his credit in the 2:30 list and they run from yearlings to eleven-year-olds. At the latter age there is one and one at ten years, five nine-year-olds, twelve seven-year-olds, eleven six-year-olds, twelve five-year-olds, eighteen four-year-olds, and the same number of three-year-olds, ten two-year-olds, and one yearling. Eleven of these performers are from Gen. Benton mares, and twenty-four from thoroughbred mares.

When will people learn that a colt will generally correct the defects in his gait as he learns to trot. Many trainers begin tampering with the gait of a colt before he has learned to use his legs at all. Every horse that was ever foaled has a gait of his own and it is folly to attempt to make a horse go according to some model. Every great trotter has a way of going of his own, and oftentimes his actions might be called very faulty. Protect his legs with boots and give him a little freedom, and if he has speed he will learn to show it.

Monroe Salisbury attributes his phenomenal success East with his string this season to the care he and George Starr bestowed upon the horses. They were never alone for even half an hour. Mr. Salisbury says they've got about 2,500 trotting and pacing horses in training east of Kansas, and if you don't keep your eyes open they'll spring something new and phenomenally fast on you any day, and take all the money in the pool-box.—Breeder and Sportsman.

The king of all the level-headed horses, however, is Little Direct, the pacer. In all his long and arduous campaign, from a "no record" race down to the fastest mile ever paced by a horse and his three unparalleled heats against Hal Pointer, the little black boy never made a single slip, says a well known writer. Hints of purchases were made by a syndicate of Tennessee breeders, as was predicted, but his astute owner gave them to distinctly understand that he and Direct were inseparable. "I will sell any other horse I have got," said he to one of the syndicate, "except that little black fellow, but I cannot afford to let go of that level-head. I am breeding trotters and pacers, and I need that head in my business."

Phantom Cannon.
Among the strangest of phenomena are the explosive noises that have been heard for years over half of the large area of the Ganges delta and that have not yet been assigned to any satisfactory cause. The noises, for the lack of a better name, have long been known as the Barisal guns, so called from Barisal, the chief town of the district to which they are mostly confined. The startling sounds were the subject of a long discussion at a meeting of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, but the learned members are no nearer a solution of the mystery now than when it was first discussed and written about, nineteen years ago.

The sounds resemble the explosion of bombs or the thunder of heavy guns. They occur at quite regular intervals, but most frequently in the rainy season, and their usual accompaniment is a southerly wind. They are heard along 100 miles of the coast and up the many branches of the delta from 50 to 100 miles inland, and due north as far as the Garo hills, about 150 miles from the coast. The adjoining Gangetic coast region for fifty miles inland is thinly inhabited, and, strange as it may appear, no one ever seems to be at or near the place where the noises originate. The musicking of the Asiatic society was profile of theories as to the cause of this phenomenon, but no theory was supported by evidence entitling it to much weight.

The noises are variously assigned to atmospheric electricity, to subterranean or subaqueous agencies, to the bursting of bamboos—which last, however, produces a noise more like that of crackling musketry than the boom of artillery—and also to the breaking of the tremendous surfl rollers along the northern shore of the Bay of Bengal, the sound of which, it is urged, is borne far inland among the river channels.—Boston Transcript.

He Had Forgotten Something.
I was staying at the Riviera when the famous eruption of 1885 occurred. I was awakened by a shock which dashed two pictures off the wall of my room and upset the washstand. While I was striking a match another shock struck me and some chairs among some fragments of broken crockery. I had presence of mind enough to remember that during an earthquake you are no safer in the street than in a covered building; so I dressed without much precipitation, and after a desperate struggle to open my door—which had got jammed—walked down the stairs. The sight was one never to be forgotten. Men, women and children in deshabille were huddled in the front hall, crying, shrieking and praying. Some had bolted out of doors with hardly any clothes on, and had made for the sea, where they clamored to be rowed out in open boats—the worst thing they could do.

Among the panic-stricken folk was an old gentleman in pyjamas, who had come down the stairs three steps at a time. But on reaching the hall he exclaimed that he had forgotten something and must go back. His friends shouted to him that the upper stories were dangerous; but he turned a deaf ear, bounded up stairs and presently returned saying, "I had forgotten what I had forgotten was his set of false teeth!"—Cor. London Graphic.

A Lively Race.
He was telling me that the wind in one of the new states. The train was going in the same direction as the wind. "We came up with a party of section workers on a handcar. They got off to let us pass, the train stopped in the meantime. Through some oversight the handcar was left alone for a moment and was whisked away by the wind. It gained rapid headway and before the workers realized the fact it had a hundred yards' start and was just hustling. The section superintendent ordered the gang to board the engine and then the train moved ahead after the fleeing car. The engineer went away at first, thinking the little car would soon be recaptured. But no, the car was in for a race. So he opened the throttle and the big locomotive and ears dashed ahead at the rate of fifty miles an hour. It was a long chase and the conductor told me that he creviced over seventy miles to catch that handcar. I suppose the handcar would have beaten us into Chicago if it hadn't had a hot box. I tell you the wind is awful out there."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Avenged His Friend.
Albertain Higgins is the owner of two handsome and valuable dogs. One is quite small, while the other is a good sized fellow. They are both well behaved and quiet. The other morning the little dog started up the street alone. Before he had gone far two other dogs met him and a fight ensued in which the little one was badly punished. After getting away he turned and went to the Higgins studio, where his big chum was reposing. A few moments later the larger dog wanted to go out; the door was opened and he darted up the street. Before going far he met the two dogs who had assailed the little one, and, in the language of the small boy, "he licked 'em both." Having accomplished this work, he went back to the studio wagging his tail and apparently unharmed. A few moments later he came back, having avenged his comrade.—Bath (Me.) Enterprise.

Man is the only animal who craves ice-cold drinks in hot weather. The wiser instinct of all domestic animals prefers warm air near the temperature of the surrounding air in summer, and in cold weather that which is near the blood heat. Cows will often drink from some muddy pond while refusing clear water from a deep well. To get them to drink the latter it should be pumped several hours before using and allowed to warm all it will in the sun.

The laws of health are taught in our schools; but not in a way to be of much practical benefit and are never illustrated by living examples, which in many cases could easily be done. If some scholar, who had just contracted a cold was brought before the school, so that all could hear the dry loud cough, and know its significance; see the thin white coating on the tongue and later, as the cold develops, see the profuse watery expectoration and thin watery discharge from the nose, not one of them would ever forget what the first symptoms of a cold were. The scholar should then be given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely, that all might see that even a severe cold could be cured in one or two days, or at least greatly mitigated, when properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear. For sale by T. G. Julian.

The Christian Union closes an argument in favor of closing the Columbian Exposition on Sundays with these sufficiently liberal words:

"The Christian Union is not a Sabbath journal. It does not believe in the Puritan idea of Sunday; it does not think it Scriptural nor for the advantage of the people; does not regard the Fourth Commandment as of binding force on the Christian church or the American people; believes in the Christian Sunday, not in the Puritan Sabbath; has no wish to enforce its own idea of Sunday by law; and would resent the attempt of others to enforce their ideas of Sunday by law. It represents, not a Puritan constituency, but we believe, a much larger one, in urging on grounds of public welfare that the Columbian Exposition regard the day which by common consent this Nation has devoted to rest and to opportunity for religious worship and unselfish work."

Eupepsy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it to enjoy life. Thousands are suffering for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee that Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you good digestion and oust the demon dyspepsia and install instead eupepsy. We recommend Electric Bitters for dyspepsia and all diseases of liver, stomach, and kidneys. Sold at 50 cents and $1 per bottle by W. S. Lloyd, druggist.

The new servant girl tried two kinds of furniture polish on the rosewood dining-table. She declared that American furniture polish was "no good at all, at all." She got half a pound of white beeswax, two cakes of castile soap and a pint of turpentine. She boiled the soap and wax together—that is, she melted them until they ran together. Then she poured in the turpentine. All the hardwood in the house shines like mirror glass now. "Tis what they make the bars shine in Dublin," she said.—Texas Stockman.

The well-known SURGEON and SPECIALIST of Cincinnati, O., formerly Resident Physician of the PHILADELPHIA GENERAL HOSPITAL, and PHYSICIAN in Charge of the Ohio Medical Institute, has for thirty years devoted his attention to the treatment of CHRONIC, NERVOUS, FEMALE and SURGICAL DISEASES, such as Bronchitis, Catarrh, Cough, Rheumatism, all diseases of the Stomach, Bowel, Rectum, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Sexual Organs, Heart, Nerves and Brain, &c., &c. of the Eye and Ear, Deformities, etc.

HE WILL BE AT THE NATIONAL HOTEL, MT. STERLING, KY., Saturday, December 19th—His 18th Regular Visit.

Returning Every Fourth Week Thereafter.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION. He will promptly tell you all about your disease and the prospects of a cure. He will prescribe the best medicine, and the assurance of certain relief and permanent cure. Their cases will receive his personal attention which all will appreciate. His treatment always produces satisfactory results; local treatment is seldom necessary. Early interference is in their earlier stages, cured without pain or instrumental interference. Sterility is usually the result of carelessness or ignorance. It can be remedied. Epilepsy or Fits cured by a never failing treatment. Deafness, many cases can be cured. Cancers permanently removed from the most delicate organs by our own peculiar method. Little or no pain; no loss of blood; no knife or caustic; the only positive cure, permanently cured.

MEN of all ages who suffer from indigestion and excessive will benefit by our course of treatment. If they observe certain symptoms in the urine or irritation of the urinary organs, they should consult us without delay. We restore all such cases. The doctor treats, with unflinching success, all forms of Rectal Disease, such as Piles, Hemorrhoids, Stricture, &c., by a method of his own discovery, such as Piles without pain or detention from business. He guarantees all cases cured. Early interference is considered the best of judgment in all cases, and saves the efforts of all others.

The success attained in the treatment of cases which he makes his specialty, and the cures he has effected in all difficult cases which have been beyond the efforts of all others.

As his rooms are usually crowded it is better to call early in the day to avoid delay. Persons consulting him should bring from two to four ounces of their urine in a bottle for examination.

Treatments given by mail or express, but when possible personal consultation is preferred. List of questions sent on application.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The F. W. Cook Brewery, at Evansville, Ind., was burned Friday afternoon. Loss $50,000.

A Philadelphia man has invented an odorless whisky. There is a big blow at the clove industry.—(Detroit Free Press.)

The safe of the Hopkins County Bank, at Madisonville, Ky., was blown open and robbed of about $6,000 Tuesday night.

At Warren, Pa., A. R. Blood, a wealthy oil operator, was killed by being thrown from a horse. His life was insured for $300,000.

By the explosion of a dynamite factory Wednesday, at Haverstraw, New York, six men were killed. The shock was felt twenty miles away.

The State of Tennessee has expended about $10,000 in paying for the capture of the convicts set at liberty by the rebellious miners at Priceville.

A Louisville, New Orleans and Texas railroad passenger train was Saturday thrown into White Oak Bayou, Miss., by a broken truck and sixteen persons injured, some quite seriously.

Rea Bros. & Co., bankers of Pittsburgh, who suspended some two months ago, paying their creditors 50 per cent. in cash and giving notes for 50 per cent., payable in a year, have called in all these notes for payment at once.

One of the worst snowstorms known in years visited the vicinity of Carlisle, Pa., Friday afternoon. All the Cumberland Valley suffered the destruction of buildings. At Carlisle the loss will amount to $100,000. At Mechanicsburg, fifteen buildings were blown down, and through the country barns were wrecked and crops ruined.

Trotting seems to have taken a firm hold in England. The Trotting Union of Great Britain has decided to institute a stud book for trotters for the purpose of stimulating breeders. The members point to the increased interest in trotters and the fact that the Alexander Stakes in 1889 were £590 and this year £1,625.

A farmer in Platte county, Mo., was seining for fish in a creek on his farm recently, when the net became fastened and he reached down to pick it up and found it to be an old copper pot containing $670 in gold pieces. The denominations were five tens and twenties and none of them a date later than 1857.

Dun's weekly review of trade shows that the only change observable is a gradual improvement. The only sign of an unfavorable character is that collections at some points are slower and harder than usual, particularly where the low price of cotton leads holders to defer selling as long as possible.

During a storm on the Hudson river Friday night twelve brick barges, east adrift by the tug Townsend, capsized, and twenty persons were drowned. There were about fifty men on board the different boats. The tug had to cut loose to keep from foundering, and the survivors saved themselves by clinging to the overturned boats or swimming ashore.

The Knoxville Journal calls attention to the fact that, as the time for taking evidence in the suit of the State of Virginia against the State of Tennessee for the settlement of the boundary line between the two States, expired, by agreement, on the last day of November, it now goes to the Supreme Court of the United States to be decided upon.

The Frankfort Capital says that Rev. E. A. Penick, rector of the Episcopal church in Frankfort, who is fond of hunting, went on the lands of a farmer, whose farm is posted, and succeeded in flushing a flock of birds, when the owner of the land appeared and told him to leave. The rector tried to prevail on him to let him shoot at some of them, when the farmer asked him who he was, and on being informed said: "Well, you can just get off this farm; mine are Campbellite birds and don't need any of your sprinkling."

A murderous lunatic, H. D. Wilson, came into the office of Russell Sage, the millionaire, Broadway, New York, on Friday. Calling for Mr. Sage he handed him a letter in which was a demand for $1,250,000, coupled with a threat that upon a refusal he would blow up the office and the occupants with dynamite. Mr. Sage declined to accede to the fellow's very reasonable request, and Wilson promptly threw a small hand-satchel to the floor, when a terrible explosion followed, wrecking the second floor of the building in which the offices were located. Wilson himself and one of Sage's clerks, B. F. Morton, were literally blown to pieces. Several other clerks in the office were so severely hurt that their recovery is exceedingly doubtful, whilst Sage and some others in the rooms escaped with their lives as by a miracle, though severely hurt. Every one on the floor was more or less injured.

Report of County Superintendent.

District No. 23, "Fort Woods"—Reports 60, draws $135.60. Highest number at school, 52; lowest, 18; present, 23. Miss Pinkie Ricketts, the same old teacher. People and trustees afraid to exchange her for another. Her popularity and experience increase apace, but her salary is not raised but reduced rather. House has been repaired some, needs painting. This is a school where the pupils are very bright, and if the trustees and patrons would visit the school oftener, the scholars would soon get rid of some of their timidity. Very good recitations from Misses Horton, Raborn, Trimble, Keith and several others. There should be a class in algebra and a class in physiology here—good material for both. Trustees—Amos Turley and G. W. Raborn—poor hands to visit their school.

District No. 21, Peyton's Lick—Reports 71, draws $160.40. Miss Lena Howard, of Bath county, teacher, is very attentive and bids fair to be one of our "very best." Pupils very fond of her and try to please her. Highest number, 33; lowest, 10; present, 26. This is far too low for the number reported, should never fall below half at worst. School house over on a mud road, on a very poor site. Trustees—Charley Frazier, Mr. Scott and Mr. James Neal—seem to take little enough interest in their school, and the patrons and people generally take little less. This school is decidedly on an upward tendency, but at a very slow stride.

School District No. 19, "Great Expectations"—Miss Pearl Bruton, teacher, loves her profession, has a nice school, which she manages very nicely, indeed. Several nice recitations: Child's History No. 1. Reports 87; draws $196.22; highest number, 52; lowest, 31; present, 41. This district is situated in the best portion of the county, on a good turnpike road, and among the patrons may be found many of our best citizens. It also contains the pleasant little village, The Run, which is the "garden spot" of days gone by. Trustees—Daniel Henry, one of the oldest and best men in this county, has been a school trustee at least forty years of his life, and that in the same district; Messrs. Cord and Davis, new men here, all interested in the school.

No. 11, Salem—Reports 86; draws $194.35; no school house at all; one church; highest number 48, lowest 10, present 28; Mr. Ficklin, teacher, works under some disadvantages; in this district are some of the best and brightest children in the county, yet the school as a whole has never been much of a success; good lessons seemed to be the order of the day here; many of the children recited in a very satisfactory manner; new house will be built in the spring. Trustees—E. E. Mathewly, C. C. Shubert.

District No. 17, Spruce—Reports 100 children; draws $226; Miss Clay Willoughby is the teacher, and doing her best work now at the first to win a reputation; her first school; Trustees—Ford, Knox; highest number 65, lowest 32, present 46; five children from this district transferred to Willoughby district, No. 30.

THE ADVOCATE.

Mr. A. J. P. Barnes and J. R. Hoskins, representing the Merchants' Retail and Commercial Agency, of Chicago, Ill., have been visiting the Mt. Sterling merchants the past week with a view of organizing a branch of the above named agency in our city. We understand there was a meeting of the merchants to elect officers of the local board last night, but too late to give the names of the officers in this issue.

This Agency does not interfere with the credit of men who deal honorably, no matter if they are slow; neither does it in any way regulate prices. Its sole object is to compel men to be honest with merchants or to pay spot cash for goods purchased. When a merchant sells his goods on credit it is an accommodation to the consumer, and if such consumer has no appreciation of the favor extended and wilfully neglects to make a reasonable and honorable adjustment of his indebtedness, then he should be compelled to pay as he buys. It is better for him and much more profitable for the merchant. Many a poor worthy man has been refused credit for the necessities of life because of the merchant's unpleasant experience with bad debtors, but this system will tend to obviate all that, because the man who does respect his credit will be known and have a standing among merchants, while the man who may not pay and won't pay and others of his kind will also be known to the members of this Agency and be absolutely refused credit; no matter if he moves to another town or State his reputation as poor pay will follow him, and the merchants in such new place of residence will also refuse him credit.

Such an organization, as is proposed, can not but be of much benefit to our merchants and business men. They certainly need some protection where the custom to allow credit is so universal. This organization, too, has proven wonderfully successful in collecting debts where other means have utterly failed, and since almost all the business men of the place have, after a thorough investigation of the agency, taken membership in it, we are satisfied that it will prove a source of much profit to them, as the more members there are in a town the more certain it is to meet the success claimed for it.

We can furnish the finest work the world produces in the the way of all kinds of cemetery furniture. We can save you the 25 or 30 per cent. paid to travelling agents or drummers, and the travelling expenses of proprietors, who often come 300 or 400 miles to put up work. When you buy of us you can get what you buy. We do not sell one article and put up another.

Also we take contracts for all kinds of Free-stone and Limestone work. We guarantee satisfaction on all contracts.
